

Acknowledgement

Thank you to the Office for Children with Special Health Care Needs (OCSHCN) & Maternal, Infant, and Early Childhood Home Visiting Program (MIECHV) for their support.

HRPP / NICP Mission

The mission of the HRPP/NICP is to reduce maternal and infant mortality and morbidity through a regionalized statewide system of coordinated care that includes consultation, transport, hospital care and community health nursing follow-up.

What are the specific goals of the High-Risk Perinatal Program?

- Encourage normal developmental patterns in high risk infants and toddlers
- Help high-risk infants function better when they reach the school system
- Empower families to function at the highest level by accessing community resources
- Ensure the highest quality risk appropriate perinatal care
- Provide family-centered, culturally responsive, and developmentally appropriate, coordinated services
- Provide services in a setting that best meets the needs of the child and family

Speakers

Erica Chestnut MC, LISAC is currently the Associate Director of Crisis Services at La Frontera AZ, EMPACT-Suicide Prevention Center. She currently oversees all the crisis programs at Empact-SPC, including the CPS Rapid Response program, which works with children of all ages in the CPS system. She has been involved in the public mental health system since 1999 and has been working with children & families for the past 10 years, with 8 of those years working with infants & toddlers in the CPS system.

Chris Linn is the Executive Director of Feeding Matters. She earned her BS in Management at Arizona State University in 1990, Magna Cum Laude. Chris has a 13-year history in the financial industry with expertise in Project Management and Customer Relations. Chris is currently a mother to 2 children, Connor and Emilie. Emilie was born at 25 weeks gestation and experienced severe feeding issues from birth. The Linn family attended the 10-week intense feeding program at the Children’s Hospital in Richmond, VA in 2006 when Emilie was 3 years old. Chris enrolled Emilie in the intense feeding program at Children’s Hospital of Wisconsin in April 2011 due to malnutrition. Chris is now dedicating her career to helping other families who have children with feeding issues.

Missy Longe is currently the Rapid Response Team Lead at Terros, Inc and has been working with children and families for the past 13 years. She has completed the Infant Toddler and Mental Health program through the Harris Institute at Southwest Human Development. She has worked in the public mental health system for 10 years as well as the Foster Care and Adoption licensing field for 5 years, having experience working directly with Child Protective Services.

Bonni Moyer graduated with a Masters in Physical Therapy in 1996 from the University of Miami. Bonni has worked in pediatrics ever since, including acute care, outpatient rehab, inpatient rehab and home services. In 2006, she was asked to participate in the NIDCAP program and became certified. In 2008, she was given the opportunity to begin training as a NIDCAP Trainer. March 2012, she was certified as a NIDCAP Trainer. Bonni currently works as a NIDCAP trainer/developmental coordinator at St. Joseph’s Hospital and Medical Center. She also owns a company that works with children in their homes doing physical therapy, as well as, a pediatric physical therapist consultant to various outpatient clinics in the valley.

Dr. Trudi Murch is Director of Services for Children with Disabilities at Easter Seals Southwest Human Development. Department programs include disability services to Head Start classrooms; Early Intervention,the Early Care and Education Inclusion Program, Nurse Family Partnership, the NICP community nursing follow-up program, and the Assistive Technology Training and Resource Center. Trudi has had extensive experience in designing and delivering training programs to Head Start personnel, school district teams, and early intervention programs in the areas of inclusion, early intervention program design, and reflective supervision.

Dr. Tressia Shaw is the director of the palliative care program at Phoenix Children’s Hospital and a pediatric medical director at Hospice of the Valley. Dr. Shaw received her medical degree from the University of Arizona College of Medicine and completed residency training at Phoenix Children’s Hospital. She has been caring for children with special health care needs and life limiting conditions at Phoenix Children’s Hospital for over eight years.
